A Fight in Convention over the Unit Rule.

John Kelly Pointedly Defines the New York Situation

It is Not He, but the People, Who Are Opposed to Cleveland.

Mr. Tilden Again Declines to Be a Candidate.

A Threat to Murder Butler if He is Nominated.

And the Butler Boom, Just Now, Seems to be Ebbing--Bayard Hopeful of Southern Support--Thurman, the Gladstone of Ohio--Carlisle Heraldy Greeted--Randall's Friends a Unit for Him--Slocum Apparently Without a Following--The Situation as It Appears at Present.

New York, July 9.—The following is an authentic copy of a communication to Mr. Barnum, Chairman of the National Committee, from Mr. Tilden:

"GREYSTONE, July 5.

"To Hon. Wm. H. Barnum, Chicago, Ill.:
"I have received your telegram informing me of the disposition to nominate me for the Presidency and asking 'Will you accept an unanimous nomination from the Convention?' and also a telegram from Mr. Manning saying: 'It seems absolutely necessary that you (I) should answer Mr. Barnum's letter as soon as possible.' Your inquiry was explicitly answered in the negative by my letter of June 10, to Mr. Manning. [Signed]

Threat to Kill Butler.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 9.—The Evening Star reports that a meeting was held with Mrs. Mumford, widow of actor Major Ben Butler, in New Orleans, who was hung by Ben Butler in 1862, and a statement from his son who swears he will kill Ben Butler if he runs for President. It is not known what the jibberish will do if Ben runs for Vice President.

Convention in Detail.

CONVENTION HALL, CHICAGO, July 9.—The elements apparently favored upon the opening of the Democratic National Convention. At any rate, the bright and bracing weather of the morning, with a light wind, no break to heavy clouds and a steady downpour of rain, and a decidedly murky and oppressive atmosphere. Notwithstanding this, however, the hall outside the world was early astir, and before the time appointed for the formal opening the situation was being canvassed in the corridors of the hotels and at headquarters of the delegations by crowds as large as those of midnight.

The telegrams last night, Charles Barnum especially, announcing the decline contained in his letter to Daniel Manning, came in for a large share of consideration, but it was accepted as removing the sense of Gramercy Park from public life.

The convention hall began to present a busy aspect soon after 6 o'clock. The privileged guests were early on hand and at least 6,000 people were in the building before a solid array of delegations had come in. The speaker had been absent all day, except to appear this evening, when the rule last month, and most of the delegations agreed last night to enter the building with martial tread to music of bands and the inspiration of flying banners.

At 11:40 but only a score of delegations were in their seats, but music in the distance gave warning that the Tammany braves were about to come upon the scene.

At 11:45 the seventh Regiment band struck up "The Star-Spangled Banner," "La Fille De Madame Angot," and simultaneously the Connecticut delegation, headed by Governor Tom Walker, filed into their seats.

The delegation from the tall Delwareans, who Bayard had so eloquently displayed, entered from the opposite door.

In quick succession follow the Indians, the two Tall Swallows of the Warren and diverse Headlands at their head.

Kinne, of Iowa, leads the delegation from that State.

John Lee Carroll, of Maryland.

Governor John Abbott, and John R. McDonald of that State.

At 11:40 the Californians marched in behind a magnificent satin banner and receive the first applause of the morning.

Tammany enters almost undivided, except that those more in the immediate neighborhood greet John Kelly with a volley of hand-claps.

The Massachusetts delegation follows right behind. But there is a certain reception; the delegations are file and at noon the Convention is ready for business.

CALLING THE CONVENTION TO ORDER.

It was nearly half past twelve when Gardner Hubbard, of Texas, who has been selected to preside, took his seat in an apparent absence, in the mean time the audience manifested its impatience by smoky clapping and stamping of feet.

The Mayor of New York called up his position as temporary chairman, took his seat in the chair, and the audience again manifested its impatience by smoky clapping and stamping of feet.

Temporary Chairman—Hon. R. H. Barnes, of Texas.

Secretary—Hon. F. O. Prince, of Massachusetts.

Assistant Secretaries—E. L. Merritt, of Illinois; Geo. W. Guthrie, of Iowa; R. M. Bradford, of Wisconsin; H. J. Lynde, of Tennessee; Michael J. Barrett, of New Jersey.

Mr. Smalley moved that the rules of the last convention be adopted and put in force with the modification noted in last night's report.

Mr. Gray, of New York, was hissed, followed by cheering, on submitting the following amendment, which was also cheered:

"When the vote of a State is announced to the Chamber of Delegates from such state, shall the name of the delegation be taken, then the names shall be read out, names of the individual delegates from the State, and their individual preferences, as expressed, shall be recorded as the vote of such State."

Mr. Fellowes of New York challenged the right of the Convention to defeat the will of New York as expressed by her Convention. They should not strip the laurel from her brow, while it was the duty of the Convention to do it.

Democratic party in New York while Mr. Fellows represented another.

To this, Mr. Fellows retorted, could doubtless the right to be but one candidate in a State. By this time two hours had been wasted in debate and the Convention began to get impatient.

Mr. Fellows quoted Mr. Cochran's statement that the Tammany ticket was not the best, and that Tammany did not think things were half as bad as they were.

Mr. Gray's motion was defeated—yeas 322, nays 46—5 votes to the former.

THE SITUATION.

CHICAGO, July 9.—The situation to-day bears a striking resemblance to that on the day of the meeting of the Republican Convention.

There is a strong Tammany vote in favor of Cleveland, and a strong Blaine vote against him.

Both sides are equally strong, and the strength of each is about equal.

Anything like a satisfactory estimate of the strength of the candidates is impossible, owing to the trouble prevailing in many delegations.

"New England is solid for Cleveland, excepting Massachusetts, and it will get a few votes to start with. New York will give him ten.

Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Michigan, and Colorado are strong for Cleveland.

North Carolina may go for Cleveland, but North Carolina, Virginia, and West Virginia are for Blaine.

The business of Messrs. J. H. Hall & Co., proprietors of the Eagle Ploy Works, will hereafter be conducted by a joint stock company, composed of the present members of the firm, under the name of The James H. Hall Ploy Company. The organization was effected on the 1st of July, under a charter obtained from the Legislature in 1878. The business under the careful and intelligent management of Mr. Hall, aided by his sons, has been a very successful one and the works are second in importance to none in the West. They were established by Mr. Hall in 1840.

CHICAGO.

Latest News from the Democratic Convention.

Special to DAILY BULLETIN.

CHICAGO, July 8.—Never in the previous history of the city was there more political enthusiasm among the populace. The Exposition building where the convention is held was thronged with people long before the proceedings opened. At 12:45 p. m., the Chairman of the National Committee called the convention to order and introduced Governor Hubbard, of Texas, who was selected temporary chairman without opposition. He delivered a stirring address bitterly arraigning the Republican party. The speech evoked great applause, especially when the fraud of 1876 was referred to. Souley, of Vermont, moved that the rules of the last convention be adopted. Grady, of Tammany, submitted an amendment against permitting the forcing of the unit rule. Much excitement ensued. Fellows declared that foul play was intended and challenged the right of the convention to defeat the will of New York. A point of order was made that the discussion of the unit rule was out of order during the temporary organization, and the chair ruled it in order and Tammany scored the first success. A heated debate is now progressing.

CHICAGO, July 8.—The convention for two hours has been discussing Grady's amendment. Kelly and Fellows, from the same district in New York, had a war of words, frequently interrupted by cheers and hisses. Kelly claims to represent one wing of the Democracy and Fellows the other. The previous question was ordered and the call of States proceeded. Despite the frantic efforts of Tammany the chair decided that New York should vote as a unit. Accordingly there was a majority against the amendment and it was lost.

HON. L. S. LATTRELL.

Hon. Lucien S. Lattrell, whose illness has been noticed in this paper, died at his home near Helena, on Tuesday afternoon. He was a prominent and upright citizen of the county, and twice served the public as the Representative in the Lower House of the Legislature, besides filling other offices of trust and honor. A wide circle of friends will learn of his death with sorrow.

The election of the public school teacher for No. 100 resulted as follows: C. G. Harris, principal teacher; Miss Maria J. Power, first assistant; Miss Carrie J. Smith, second assistant. As we have no high school we think it necessary to have a third teacher. Mr. Harris may give more time to the higher branches.

Something for Women to Do. Helen Williams in Chicago Express.

If I were on a farm I should raise quantities of currents and other small fruits. These I would put up in sugar jars, jams, marmalade, etc., and I would make them so beautiful in appearance and so attractive that we would buy them in the market, that we would create a sale for them on their own merit; so that they would command the best prices going. This is woman's work, and would secure independence to many of them if industriously carried out.

Paris correspondent says:—You must have heard of the portrait of the affair of the Meissonier, a good deal about Mrs. Mackay, and, I dare say, would like to hear more. Mrs. Mackay has a face and figure which Dickens would have liked to paint. In fact, she is of the most perfect and half-sentimental mood. It would be outrageously false to say she had classic beauty, or anything statuesque beyond good proportions. She is not tall, she is not imposing, but she is really ravishing. Her eyes are well set in, in fine dress or fine clothing, freshness, plumpness, transparency of complexion, and nothing that shows egotistical self-assertion or self worship. Her features are well shaped and regular, and she is not classed among her eyes are full blushing, and candid.

A New Court Officer. A legal construction walked into a court-room.

"Did you send me for me, judge?"

"Yes, do you want a good easy position?"

"Of course I do."

"Well, then, go and stand by the outside door and when a woman with a hand-about her eyes and a set of scales in her hand comes up, tell her she can't come in."

"Is that all?"

"That's all. It's a pretty soft job. I don't think you will like it very well, but if she should I'd like to have you handy to show her away."

"Who is she, anyway, judge? What's her name?"

"Well, it's so long since I've heard it, I'm afraid it hasn't slipped my memory."

CUSHIONED IN Rosy Gums, inclosed in lips that part in smiles like the opening rosebud, the teeth gleam with dazzling whiteness, if the charming person uses beautifying Sozontol, which cleanses and blanches the teeth without abrasives and enamel like mineral preparations designed for the same purpose. This agreeably odoriferous and salutary article not only benefits the teeth and enhances the beauty of the mouth, but removes canker and remedies ulceration of the gums.

LOST Faith in Physicians.

There are innumerable instances where diseases have been effected by Scoville's Saraparilla, or Blood and Liver Syrup, for all diseases of the blood, when they had been given over by their physicians. It is one of the best remedies ever offered to the public, and as it is prepared with the greatest care, as a specific for certain diseases, it is no wonder that it should be more effectual than hastily written and carelessly prepared prescriptions. Take this medicine for all disorders arising from impure blood. It is enclosed by leading professional men.
